THE WORLD. JAN. 25, 1893.

An interesting fact in family history is mentioned by the editor (M Waléry) of Our Celebrities, who publishes a portrait of Major-General Sir Owen Burne in his last number. He says: "Some few years ago the Morning Post cited the family of Sir Owen Burne as a remarkable instance of illustrious descent in families which have no specially prominent position in the world. Forster's Royal Lineage of our Noble and Gentle Families gives his descent on his father's side from the ancient families of de Leiburne and Bodicote, and on his mother's side from French and English kings: thirty-fourth from Charlemagne, thirty-first from Alfred the Great, and sixteenth from Edward III., and, again, through his four sons separately: thus being connected with some of the noblest families in England and France."

PREFACE.

IT is with much pleasure that I am enabled to issue another new volume of "The Royal Lineage of our Noble and Gentle Families."

Though this is not the first work that has appeared on Royal Descents, it is the first in which they have been genealogically treated. Hitherto they have only appeared in the form of chart pedigrees, which, though useful adjuncts to a genealogical narrative, are by themselves meagre and uninstructive. The families included in the present work will have their descent from the blood royal traced in the form of a detailed narrative, introducing the various historic houses—now extinct, for the most part, in the male line—through whom they derive their royal descent. Most of the names illustrious in our early annals are no longer to be found in works dealing with the extant Peerage, but they will necessarily occupy a prominent place in the pages of the present work. A well-known and almost solitary exception to the utter extinction of these historic houses is to be seen in the mighty race of Nevill, still represented in the English Peerage by a lineal descendant, in the male line, of Ralph Nevill, first Earl of Westmorland, and his second wife, the daughter of John of Gaunt. Both on the ground of its exceptional paternal ancestry, and on that of its descent in an unbroken line, from a match with the blood-royal of England, * the House of Nevill fitly occupied the first place in my first volume But it is not only in these respects that I claim for my undertaking a novel character. Many of those who are outside the charmed circle of the titled classes can prove their descent from the kings of England; and I have taken the opportunity afforded me by this fact, and by the wide sphere which the subject consequently presents, to extend my genealogical operations beyond the Peerage and Baronetage, and to deal on a somewhat comprehensive scale with the history of our gentle though untitled families.

* The issue of John of Gaunt by Katherine Swynford received letters of legitimation from Richard II. as "entire Emperor of his realm of England," which was preceded by a similar act by the Pope; the King's patent received the assent of parliament 5th February, 1397, rendering the issue capable of succession to all honours. This patent was confirmed by Henry IV., 10th February, 1407, the royal dignity being excepted, but without the consent of parliament; they were called Beaufort from the Duke's castle in Anjou, where they were born.—"Excerpta Historica," pp. 152 seq.

In so doing I shall be breaking new ground, not only so far as I am myself concerned, but also in respect that, numerous as are the works dealing with the Peerage and Baronetage, no worthy effort has ever been made to deal with the families beyond their pale; and yet there are to be found among the latter houses of equal, if not of greater antiquity than those which bear "the guinea stamp." And of these many are no longer to be found in the ranks of the "landed gentry," and are consequently supplanted in the work which deals with that class, and which bears the imprimatur of Sir Bernard Burke, by families either of no pedigree at all, or of pedigrees which no one but the Ulster King-of-Arms could dare to foist upon the public.

I have therefore decided to comprise in my work, as a supplementary and special feature, accurate narratives of the "paternal ancestry" of the principal families that figure in its pages. The usual plan in such cases is the exceedingly simple one of printing a pedigree just as it is received, with the result, in some instances, of including much that is false, and in others of omitting much that ought to appear. To exclude, on the one hand, information which is false, and to amplify, on the other, that which is imperfect, is a work involving no little time, trouble, and cost; but I have set myself to perform it to the best of my abilities, trusting that the members of the families whose history I undertake to compile will, on their part, loyally supply me with that detailed and personal information without which it would be utterly impossible to make my work complete. I venture to think that in respect not only of elaboration, but of truth, I may fearlessly invite comparison between the pedigrees in these pages and those which have appeared in any other work.

Mr. Freeman has denounced, in scathing language, "the hideous nonsense . . . of the absurd tales which fill the pages of Sir Bernard Burke" ("Pedigrees and Pedigree Makers," Contemporary Review, June, 1877). From his indignant criticisms I here extract a few weighty sentences.

> "What, for instance, can be the state of mind of Sir Bernard Burke? Does he know, or does he not know, the manifest falsehood of the tales which he reprints year after year? He may, one is tempted to say, be reasonably called on for a more critical examination than we can ask from people who simply send him the stories which they have been taught to believe about their own families. If he says that he is not responsible for them, that he simply puts into his book what is sent to him without examining into its truth, if he says that the responsibility for the truth or falsehood of the stories rests with those who send them to him, he shows a very imperfect notion of the duties of authorship or editorship, even in its lowest form. No man can have a right to publish, without contradiction or comment, as alleged fact and not as avowed fiction, a number of stories which are false on the face of them. The readers of the book accept the stories on the faith of the author or editor. If they think about the matter at all, they hold that it is his business to examine and verify the statements which are sent to him. Indeed, Sir Bernard Burke himself tells us, in his 'Prefatory Notice' prefixed to the thirty-second edition of his Peerage and Baronetage, that he has 'again subjected its pages to searching revision and extensive amendment.' Here, then, Sir Bernard Burke distinctly takes on himself what reason would have laid upon him even if he had not taken it upon himself, namely, responsibility for his own book. It is the Ulster King-at-Arms, not the unknown persons who send him the accounts of this or that family, whom we must, in fairness, blame for the monstrous fictions which appear as the early history of so many families."

These criticisms apply with special force to the pedigrees which appear in his "Landed Gentry." For that work deserves, if possible, even more justly than his "Peerage," the description of a "gorgeous repertory of genealogical mythology" (Chester Waters' "Parish Registers in England," 1883 edition, page 39). In the words of an "eminent jurist and herald" (as he has been recently styled by the Edinburgh Review), whom the whirligig of time has oddly transformed into Ulster's latest apologist,—

> "While the 'Peerage' may be, to a slight extent, improving from year to year, the 'Landed Gentry' is deteriorating. . . . The immense majority of the pedigrees in the 'Landed Gentry,' including more especially the Scottish pedigrees, cannot, I fear, be characterized as otherwise than utterly worthless. The errors of the 'Peerage' are as nothing to the fables which we encounter everywhere. Families of notoriously obscure origin have their veins filled with the blood of generations of royal personages of the ancient and mythical world. . . . Other pedigrees contain a small germ of truth eked out with a mass of fiction, in the proportion of Falstaff's bread and sack; while an extreme minuteness of detail is often combined with reckless disregard of dates and historical possibilities." ("Popular Genealogists." Edinburgh: Edmonston and Douglas, 1865.)

I would urge that though Ulster may still blazon this work as "an adequate and faithful (!) record of a very influential and important class" (Preface to 6th edition, 1879), it has far too long been, to use his own words, "considered" (i.e. by the simple-minded public) "an authority on the subject of which it treats." Specially is this the case on the Continent, where the imprimatur of a King-of-arms on a work adorned with his official insignia naturally carries all the weight which it should, but which, alas! it does not, possess. It is therefore on behalf of Continental, even more than of home readers, that a vigorous protest should be at length raised against this quasi-official publication of notoriously fictitious descents. To quote from an article on "Pedigrees and Peerages" which has recently appeared in the Edinburgh Review (July, 1883):—

> "The not unfrequent fabrication of a fictitious ancestry on behalf of wealthy upstarts naturally reminds us of La Rochefoucauld's happy definition of hypocrisy, 'The homage which vice pays to virtue.' The heralds of the Middle Ages were sometimes inclined to carry back their pedigrees to a remote period, and to invent a good many 'forbears' for the earliest ancestor on record. . . The modern professors of the science of genealogy are still bolder in their procedure, and such is the persuasive power of wealth that in the course of a single week they contrive to furnish the obscurest novus homo with an historic name, an elaborate pedigree, and a highly respectable gallery of family portraits. . . . It is much to be regretted that these unscrupulous adventurers are no longer liable to the salutary punishment administered to certain framers of false pedigrees in the sixteenth century—to wit, the loss of an ear."

We look anxiously, but in vain, for some signs of amelioration and repentance. Undeterred by Mr. Freeman's emphatic warning, Sir Bernard assures us in the "Prefatory Notice" prefixed to the Sixth Edition of this work (1879) that—

> "No pains have been spared in the preparation of this edition of the 'Landed Gentry.' Every available source of information has been exhausted, each memoir has been carefully revised," etc., etc.

We are therefore entitled to claim, with Mr. Freeman, that "it is the Ulster King-at-Arms, and not the unknown persons who send him the accounts of this or that family, whom we must in fairness blame for the monstrous fictions which appear as the early history of so many families." For notwithstanding the revision here vaunted, these "monstrous fictions" bedeck its pages with more reckless audacity than ever. Each successive edition of this imposing work bears fresh witness to the esteem which it enjoys among those who manufacture spurious pedigrees, and those for whom they are manufactured, for each successive edition contains a fresh infusion of these transparent and contemptible concoctions, to the joy of their compounders, to the deception of the public, and of course to the profit of the editor. The purveyors of pedigrees, when in the good old times such would have found their career abruptly closed by the official intervention of a most formidable critic in the King-of-arms, now find in a King-of-arms their most powerful patron and accomplice, while the task of exposing them is left to private enterprise, and is actually rendered increasingly difficult by the official patronage they enjoy.

As to Coat Armour, I regret to say it has been allowed to drift into so anarchic a condition as to be now in an even worse state than genealogy. Here, again, though the irresponsible heraldic stationer—the tradesman who so obligingly "finds" arms for his customers—is in too many cases doubtless to blame, the real responsibility must lie with those who give official currency to these inventions and piracies. The official ægis of a King-of-arms has been freely cast over these spurious coats which it is his special official function to expose and suppress! And false heraldry, moreover, unlike false genealogy, is not a mere imposition upon the public. In the innumerable cases where coat armour, the peculiar property of a certain family, has been fraudulently assumed by strangers in blood, a deliberate injury is done to the rightful owners of the coat. To such a farce, in fact, has heraldry now been reduced, that were an "avenging angel" suddenly to arise and to exercise the functions of a King-of-arms as they were exercised by a Dugdale, not only would the coach panel, the note-paper, and "the family plate" be deprived in the great majority of instances of the armorial insignia which now adorn them, but few public buildings, from the cathedral to the banqueting house, could pass unscathed through the ordeal, or undergo with impunity such a "visitation."

I have consequently found myself reluctantly compelled practically to exclude from these pages all mention of Coat Armour.

These remarks will doubtless be assailed by cynical critics and genealogists, who may charge me with posing as omniscient or immaculate. To such a pretension, I need scarcely observe, I make no claim. I merely wish it to be clearly understood that, so far as my knowledge and experience enables me, I have tested every pedigree submitted to me for publication, and that in no single instance have I included a descent the truthfulness of which I had the least reason to suspect, merely because it was sent me for insertion.

I cannot but hope that though in some instances I may be forced to reject a descent altogether, and in others to prune and correct it, yet the public at large will value this work all the more because of its efforts at accuracy and truth, and will remember that such excision guarantees the trustworthiness of the information which has passed unscathed through the ordeal. To quote once more from Mr. Freeman's Essay :—.

> "When a man is bold enough to begin his pedigree in the seventeenth or eighteenth century, still more when he is bold enough to begin it in the nineteenth, lovers of truth will respect him as a fellow-lover of truth. . . . All the more honour then to those, and there are not a few, who withstand the temptation, and who claim no forefathers save those to whom they can prove a right."

They will also find that the amount of rejected matter is far more than counterbalanced by my original additions.

Irrespective, therefore, of its Royal Descents, this work should command peculiar interest on account of the numerous genealogies which will only be found in its pages, and which will enable many families for the first time to possess, in a permanent and handy form, an elaborate account of their relatives and kin, with a trustworthy history of their ancestors.

SIR MAURICE FITZGERALD, BART., THE
KNIGHT OF KERRY,
FROM THE BLOOD ROYAL OF ENGLAND.

EDWARD I., so named after Edward the Confessor; born at Westminster, 17 June, 1239, knighted at Burgos, 1254, created Earl of Chester; crowned at Westminster, 19 Aug., 1274, king of England, lord of Ireland, duke of Aquitaine; he subdued the principality of Wales 1283, claimed and exercised feudal superiority over Scotland; died at Burgh-on-the-Sands, Cumberland, 7 July, 1307, buried in Westminster Abbey; by his 1st wife, Eleanor (who died 27 Nov., 1290), daughter of Ferdinand III., king of Castile, he had, with other issue, a daughter,

ELIZABETH, died 5 May, 1316, aged 32; she married 1st to John, Count of Holland and Zealand, and Lord of Friesland, who died s.p.; she re-married to Humphrey de Bohun, Earl of Hereford and Essex, Lord of Brecknock, and constable of England; he served in the wars against Scotland, taken prisoner at the battle of Stryvelin, 7 Edward II., was exchanged for the wife of Robert Bruce; he fell at the battle of Boroughbridge, Yorks, 16 March, 1321, leaving, with other issue, a daughter,

ELEANOR DE BOHUN, married 1st, 1327, to James Butler, Earl of Carrick (eldest son of Edmund Butler, created Earl of Carrick 1 Sept., 1315), created Earl of Ormonde 2 Nov., 1328; founded the Friary of Carrickbeg-on-the-Suir 1336; he died 6 Jan., 1337, buried at Waterford; she re-married before 1344 to Sir Thomas de Dagworth, the celebrated warrior who brought Charles de Blois, Duke of Britany, a prisoner to the Tower, 21 Edward III., had summons to parliament 13 Nov., 1347, had a son, Nicholas; by her 1st husband she had, with a daughter, Petronilla, 1st wife of Gilbert, Lord Talbot, a son,

JAMES BUTLER, and Earl of Ormonde, lord-justice of Ireland 1359-1360, lord-deputy to the lord-lieut., Duke of Clarence, 1364, lord-justice 1376, constable of Dublin Castle 1372, summoned to the parliaments held by Richard II.; born at Kilkenny 4 Oct., 1331; died in his castle of

* The common ancestor of the Geraldines was Maurice FitzGerald, the great-grandson of Otho, a honorary baron of England, descended from the Gherardini of Florence. Gerald FitzWalter, Castellan of Windsor and Constable of Pembroke, married, about 1095, a beautiful Welsh princess, Nesta, daughter of Rhys ap Tudor, Prince of South Wales. Their son, Maurice FitzGerald (with his half-brother, Robert FitzStephen), accompanied Strongbow, Earl of Pembroke, in his invasion of Ireland, and founded the Geraldine race on the grants of land obtained there under Henry II., towards 1172. Of the same family were the two brothers John FitzGerald, created Earl of Kildare, and Maurice FitzGerald, created Earl of Desmond (1329, 3 Edward III.), who respectively married two sisters, Joan and Margaret, daughters of Richard de Burgh, Earl of Ulster. The Gherardini pedigree will be found in the Kilkenny Archæological Journal for 1877. The Lord Deputy for Ireland in Henry VII.'s reign was the Earl of Kildare, whose accusers declared that "all Ireland could not rule this earl," to which the King replied: "Then, in good faith, shall this earl rule all Ireland." An interesting letter, which he wrote in reply to an epistle from the Gherardini of Tuscany, is still extant, and signed "GERALD, chief in Ireland of the family of Gherardini, Earl of Kildare, viceroy of the most serene kings of England in Ireland." Eight years after the date of this letter, Ariosto writes thus of a brave old man whose fame had passed long before to distant lands:—

"Or guarda gl' Ibernisi: appresso il piano
Sono due squadre: e il Conte di Childera
Mena la prima; e il Conte di Desmonda,
Da fieri monti ha tratta la seconda."

Knocktopher 18 Oct., 1382-3; he married Elizabeth, daughter of his guardian, Sir John Darcy, lord-justice of Ireland (she re-married to Sir Robert Hereford), and had, with other issue (see page), a son,

JAMES, 3rd Earl of Ormonde, built Gowran Castle and purchased Kilkenny Castle, 1391 (built by William, Earl Marshal, the elder), from the heirs of Sir Hugh le Despenser, Earl of Gloucester (and Isabel, his wife, daughter and co-heir of Gilbert de Clare, Earl of Gloucester); he also built the Castle Dunfert, commonly called Danes' Fort, founded the Friars Minors at Aylesbury in 1386, lord-deputy of Ireland 1384, 1392, 1401, 1404, governor of counties Kilkenny and Tipperary 1389, took Teige O'Carrol, prince of Elye, prisoner; 1390 "being a mighty strong man, he is styled in some annals the head of the chivalry of Ireland, which kingdom he governed to the content of the king and his good subjects"; he married Anne, daughter of John, 5th Lord Welles (by his 2nd wife, a daughter of John, Lord Mowbray), and died 7 Sept., 1405, buried at Gowran, having had 2 sons.

THE REV. WILLIAM BELL CHRISTIAN,
OF EWANRIGG AND MILNTOWN,
FROM THE BLOOD ROYAL OF ENGLAND.

EDWARD I., so named after Edward the Confessor; born at Westminster, 17 June, 1239, knighted at Burgos, 1254, created Earl of Chester; crowned at Westminster, 19 Aug., 1274, king of England, lord of Ireland, duke of Aquitaine; he subdued the principality of Wales 1283, claimed and exercised feudal superiority over Scotland; died at Burgh-on-the-Sands, Cumberland, 7 July, 1307, buried in Westminster Abbey; by his 1st wife, Eleanor, daughter of Ferdinand III., king of Castile, who died 27 Nov., 1290, he had, with other issue, a daughter,

JOAN OF ACRE, born there 1272; died 10 May, 1305, having married 1st, 2 May, 1290, as 2nd wife, to Gilbert de Clare (surnamed "The Red"), Earl of Gloucester and Hertford; he died at Monmouth Castle, 7 Dec., 1295; she re-married, 1296, to Ralph de Monthermer, who had summons to parliament as Earl of Gloucester and Hertford, in right of his wife, 1299-1306, and had issue. JOAN OF ACRE had, by her 1st husband, with other issue, a daughter,

MARGARET DE CLARE, 2nd sister and co-heir of Gilbert de Clare, Earl of Gloucester and Hertford (who fell at Bannockburn, 24 June, 1314, s.p.); she married 1st to Sir Piers Gaveston, Earl of Cornwall, to whom Edward II. granted the county of Cornwall by charter, dated at Dumfries, 6 Aug., 1307, summoned to parliament 19 Jan. following; beheaded without form of trial, 1314, leaving an only daughter, who was betrothed to John Moulton.

MARGARET, COUNTESS OF CORNWALL, married 2ndly to Hugh de Audley; he had summons to parliament in the lifetime of his father, 1317-21, and 1326-36, and was created Earl of Gloucester by patent, 16 March, 1337; he died without male issue in 1347, and the dignity which was to him and his heirs appears to have been considered extinct; he left an only child,

MARGARET DE AUDLEY, died 7 Sept., 1349, having married to Ralph de Stafford, K.G. (son and heir of Edmund de Stafford, a lord of parliament), summoned to parliament 14 Jan. 10 Edward III., 1337, to 25 Nov. 24 Edward III., 1350, created Earl of the County of Stafford, 5 March, 1351, to hold to him and his heirs; served in the wars in Scotland and in Britany, taken prisoner at the siege of Nantes, seneschal of Aquitaine, 20 Edward III., had a principal command at the battle of Cressy, one of the founders of the Order of the Garter, lieutenant and captain-general of the duchy of Aquitaine; he died 31 Aug., 1372, having had, with other issue (see also BOSANQUET, page 23), a son,

HUGH, 2nd Earl of Stafford, K.G., also served in the wars; died on his return from a pilgrimage to the holy sepulchre at Rhodes, October, 1386; he married Philippa, daughter of Thomas Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, and had, with other issue, a daughter,

KATHERINE DE STAFFORD, married to Sir Michael de la Pole (son of the attainted Earl of Suffolk), restored to his father's dignities 1397, but the proceedings of the parliament, 11 Richard II., 1388, having been by the parliament of 1 Henry IV., 1399, affirmed, and the proceedings of 21 Richard II., 1397 (which restored him), annulled, he again fell under his father's attainder; the king therefore restored to him a portion of his father's lands, and gave to him, and the issue male of his body, the title of Earl of Suffolk, by patent, 15 Nov., 1399; he died in camp before Harfleur, 18 Sept., 1415, and had, with other issue, a son,

SIR THOMAS DE LA POLE, who married Ann, daughter of Nicholas Cheney, and had an only daughter and heir,

KATHERINE DE LA POLE, married 1st to Sir Miles Stapilton, of Bedale, co. York, Ingham, Norfolk, and Codeford Manor, Wilts, was a commissioner to look after the beacons of Norfolk, 1428, knight of the shire, 28 Henry VI.; died 30 Sept., 1466, will proved 21 Dec., 1466, inquisition post-mortem 6 Edward IV.; Lady Stapilton re-married as 2nd wife to Sir Richard Harcourt, of Ellenhall, co. Stafford; by her 1st husband she had 2 daughters, of whom the younger,

JOAN STAPILTON, married 1st to Sir Christopher Harcourt, son of Sir Richard Harcourt, of Ellenhall, aforesaid; she re-married to Sir John Huddleston, of Millum, Cumberland, appointed sheriff of that county for life by the Duke of Gloucester, 35 Henry VI., knight of the shire, 7 Edward IV., 1467-8, made a knight-banneret in Scotland, 24 July, 1482, by the Duke of Gloucester, keeper and bailiff of the king's woods and chases in Barnoldswick, Yorks, steward of Penrith, and warden of the west marches, and had at least 3 sons and 2 daughters.

[1] Richard (Huddleston), died in his father's lifetime; he married Margaret (Nevill), daughter of the Earl of Warwick; she died 14 Henry VII., leaving a son, Richard, who died s.p., and 2 daughters.

[2] Sir John, married Joane, daughter of Lord Fitzhugh, and died 3 Henry VIII., 1511-12, leaving a son,

SIR JOHN, of whom presently.

[3] William, living 17 Henry VII.; married Isabel, daughter and heir of John Nevill, Marquis of Montagu, and had issue.

[4] Anne, married as 1st wife to Sir Thomas Curwen, of Workington (see page 128).

[5] Mary, died 20 May, 1525; married 23 Edward IV., 1483, to Sir John Pennington, of Muncaster, who died 28 June, 1516, leaving an only daughter, Isabel, married to Thomas Dykes, of Warthall (see Penningstoniana, by J. Foster).

SIR JOHN HUDDLESTON, of Millum, aged 24 at his father's death in 1512, knight of the bath at the coronation of Anne Boleyne, Whit-Sunday, 1533; married 1st, Jane, daughter of Henry Clifford, Earl of Cumberland; she died s.p.; he married 2ndly, Joan, sister of Sir John Seymour, Knt., aunt of Jane Seymour, queen of Henry VIII., and had a son, ANTHONY, lord of Millum, and a daughter, Elinor; he married 3rdly, Joyce, daughter and heir of John Prickley, of Prickley, co. Worcester, and had, with 2 daughters, a son,

ANDREW HUDDLESTON, of Farington, Lancashire, Preston Richard, Westmoreland, and of Abington, Oxon, an officer of the body-guard to Henry VIII., Edward VI., Queen Mary, and Queen Elizabeth; he married 1564, Mary, 3rd daughter and co-heir of Cuthbert Hutton, of Hutton John, Cumberland, and had a son,

JOSEPH HUDDLESTON, of Farington, aforesaid, and of Hutton John, Cumberland; married Elinor, 2nd daughter of Cuthbert Sisson, of Kirkbarow, Westmoreland, and had, with numerous issue, a son,

LORD ELLENBOROUGH
FROM THE BLOOD ROYAL OF ENGLAND.

EDWARD I., so named after Edward the Confessor; born at Westminster, 17 June, 1239, knighted at Burgos, 1254, created Earl of Chester; crowned at Westminster, 19 Aug., 1274, king of England, lord of Ireland, duke of Aquitaine; he subdued the principality of Wales 1283, claimed and exercised feudal superiority over Scotland; died at Burgh-on-the-Sands, Cumberland, 7 July, 1307, buried in Westminster Abbey; by his 1st wife, Eleanor, daughter of Ferdinand III., king of Castile, who died 27 Nov., 1290, he had, with other issue, a daughter,

JOAN OF ACRE, born there 1272; died 10 May, 1305, having married 1st, 2 May, 1290, as 2nd wife, to Gilbert de Clare (surnamed "The Red"), Earl of Gloucester and Hertford; he died at Monmouth Castle, 7 Dec., 1295; she re-married, 1296, to Ralph de Monthermer, who had summons to parliament as Earl of Gloucester and Hertford, in right of his wife, 1299-1306, and had issue. JOAN OF ACRE had, by her 1st husband, with other issue, a daughter,

MARGARET DE CLARE, 2nd sister and co-heir of Gilbert de Clare, Earl of Gloucester and Hertford (who fell at Bannockburn, 24 June, 1314, s.p.); she married 1st to Sir Piers Gaveston, Earl of Cornwall, to whom Edward II. granted the county of Cornwall by charter, dated at Dumfries, 6 Aug., 1307, summoned to parliament 19 Jan. following; beheaded without form of trial, 1314, leaving an only daughter, who was betrothed to John Moulton.

MARGARET, COUNTESS OF CORNWALL, married 2ndly to Hugh de Audley; he had summons to parliament in the lifetime of his father, 1317-21, and 1326-36, and was created Earl of Gloucester by patent, 16 March, 1337; he died without male issue in 1347, and the dignity which was to him and his heirs appears to have been considered extinct; he left an only child,

MARGARET DE AUDLEY, died 7 Sept., 1349, having married to Ralph de Stafford, K.G. (son and heir of Edmund de Stafford, a lord of parliament), summoned to parliament 14 Jan. 10 Edward III., 1337, to 25 Nov. 24 Edward III., 1350, created Earl of the County of Stafford, 5 March, 1351, to hold to him and his heirs; served in the wars in Scotland and in Britany, taken prisoner at the siege of Nantes, seneschal of Aquitaine, 20 Edward III., had a principal command at the battle of Cressy, one of the founders of the Order of the Garter, lieutenant and captain-general of the duchy of Aquitaine; he died 31 Aug., 1372, having had, with other issue (see also BOSANQUET, page 23), a son,

HUGH, 2nd Earl of Stafford, K.G., also served in the wars; died on his return from a pilgrimage to the holy sepulchre at Rhodes, October, 1386; he married Philippa, daughter of Thomas Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, and had, with other issue, a daughter,

KATHERINE DE STAFFORD, married to Sir Michael de la Pole (son of the attainted Earl of Suffolk), restored to his father's dignities 1397, but the proceedings of the parliament 11 Richard II., 1388, having been by the parliament of 1 Henry IV., 1399, affirmed, and the proceedings of 21 Richard II., 1397 (which restored him), annulled, he again fell under his father's attainder; the king therefore restored to him a portion of his father's lands, and gave to him, and the issue male of his body, the title of Earl of Suffolk, by patent 15 Nov., 1399; he died in camp before Harfleur, 18 Sept., 1415, and had, with other issue, a son,

SIR THOMAS DE LA POLE, who married Ann, daughter of Nicholas Cheney, and had an only daughter and heir,

KATHERINE DE LA POLE, married 1st to Sir Miles Stapilton, of Bedale, co. York, Ingham, Norfolk, and Codeford Manor, Wilts, was a commissioner to look after the beacons of Norfolk 1428, knight of the shire 28 Henry VI.; died 30 Sept., 1466, will proved 21 Dec., 1466, inquisition post-mortem 6 Edward IV.; Lady Stapilton re-married as 2nd wife to Sir Richard Harcourt, of Ellenhall, co. Stafford; by her 1st husband she had 2 daughters, of whom the younger,

JOAN STAPILTON, married 1st to Sir Christopher Harcourt, son of Sir Richard Harcourt, of Ellenhall, aforesaid; she re-married to Sir John Huddleston, of Millum, Cumberland, appointed sheriff of that county for life by the Duke of Gloucester, 35 Henry VI., knight of the shire 7 Edward IV., 1467-8, made a knight-banneret in Scotland, 24 July, 1482, by the Duke of Gloucester, keeper and bailiff of the king's woods and chases in Barnoldswick, Yorks, steward of Penrith, and warden of the west marches, and had at least 3 sons and 2 daughters.

[1] Richard (Huddleston), died in his father's lifetime; he married Margaret (Nevill), daughter of the Earl of Warwick; she died 14 Henry VII., leaving a son, Richard, who died s.p., and 2 daughters.

[2] Sir John, married Joane, daughter of Lord Fitzhugh, and died 3 Henry VIII., 1511-12, leaving a son,

SIR JOHN, of whom presently.

[3] William, living 17 Henry VII.; married Isabel, daughter and heir of John Nevill, Marquis of Montagu, and had issue.

[4] Anne, married as 1st wife to Sir Thomas Curwen, of Workington (see page 128).

[5] Mary, died 20 May, 1525; married 23 Edward IV., 1483, to Sir John Pennington, of Muncaster, who died 28 June, 1516, leaving an only daughter, Isabel, married to Thomas Dykes, of Warthall (see Penningtoniana, by J. Foster).

SIR JOHN HUDDLESTON, of Millum, aged 24 at his father's death in 1512, knight of the bath at the coronation of Anne Boleyne, Whit-Sunday, 1533; married 1st, Jane, daughter of Henry Clifford, Earl of Cumberland; she died s.p.; he married 2ndly, Joan, sister of Sir John Seymour, Knt., aunt of Jane Seymour, queen of Henry VIII., and had a son, ANTHONY, lord of Millum, and a daughter, Elinor; he married 3rdly, Joyce, daughter and heir of John Prickley, of Prickley, co. Worcester, and had, with 2 daughters, a son,

ANDREW HUDDLESTON, of Farington, Lancashire, Preston Richard, Westmorland, and of Abington, Oxon, an officer of the body-guard to Henry VIII., Edward VI., Queen Mary, and Queen Elizabeth; he married 1564, Mary, 3rd daughter and co-heir of Cuthbert Hutton, of Hutton John, Cumberland, and had a son,

JOSEPH HUDDLESTON, of Farington, aforesaid, and of Hutton John, Cumberland; married Elinor, 2nd daughter of Cuthbert Sisson, of Kirkbarow, Westmorland, and had, with numerous issue, a son,

ANDREW HUDDLESTON, of Hutton John, aged 13 in 1617; married 1632, Dorothy, daughter of Daniel Fleming, of Skirwith, Westmorland, and had, with other issue, a daughter,

MARY HUDDLESTON, married as 2nd wife to John Senhouse, of Netherhall, Cumberland, who died 1667, leaving, with other issue, a son,

HUMPHREY SENHOUSE, of Netherhall, Cumberland, aforesaid, high sheriff 1714; married Eleanor, daughter of William Kirby, Esq., of Elslack, co. Lancashire, and had, with other issue, a daughter,

BRIDGET SENHOUSE, buried at Dearham 27 Sept., 1749, having married 14 May, 1717, to John Christian, of Milntown, Isle of Man, and Unerigg, Cumberland (see page 58), admitted to Gray's Inn 14 June, 1706; barrister 22 June, 1713; born 14, baptized at Dearham 24 May, 1688; died 20, and buried there 25 Sept., 1745, having had, with 7 sons (see page 58), 4 daughters, of whom the eldest,

HENRY FRASER CURWEN, ESQ.,
OF WORKINGTON HALL, CUMBERLAND,
FROM THE BLOOD ROYAL OF ENGLAND.

EDWARD I., so named after Edward the Confessor; born at Westminster, 17 June, 1239, knighted at Burgos, 1254, created Earl of Chester; crowned at Westminster, 19 Aug., 1274, king of England, lord of Ireland, duke of Aquitaine; he subdued the principality of Wales 1283, claimed and exercised feudal superiority over Scotland; died at Burgh-on-the-Sands, Cumberland, 7 July, 1307, buried in Westminster Abbey; by his 1st wife, Eleanor, daughter of Ferdinand III., king of Castile, who died 27 Nov., 1290, he had, with other issue, a daughter,

JOAN OF ACRE, born there 1272; died 10 May, 1305, having married 1st, 2 May, 1290, as 2nd wife, to Gilbert de Clare (surnamed "The Red"), Earl of Gloucester and Hertford; he died at Monmouth Castle, 7 Dec., 1295; she re-married, 1296, to Ralph de Monthermer, who had summons to parliament as Earl of Gloucester and Hertford, in right of his wife, 1299-1306, and had issue. JOAN OF ACRE had, by her 1st husband, with other issue, a daughter,

MARGARET DE CLARE, 2nd sister and co-heir of Gilbert de Clare, Earl of Gloucester and Hertford (who fell at Bannockburn, 24 June, 1314, s.p.); she married 1st to Sir Piers Gaveston, Earl of Cornwall, to whom Edward II. granted the county of Cornwall by charter, dated at Dumfries, 6 Aug., 1307, summoned to parliament 19 Jan. following; beheaded without form of trial, 1314, leaving an only daughter, who was betrothed to John Moulton.

MARGARET, COUNTESS OF CORNWALL, married 2ndly to Hugh de Audley; he had summons to parliament in the lifetime of his father, 1317-21, and 1326-36, and was created Earl of Gloucester by patent, 16 March, 1337; he died without male issue in 1347, and the dignity which was to him and his heirs appears to have been considered extinct; he left an only child,

MARGARET DE AUDLEY, died 7 Sept., 1349, having married to Ralph de Stafford, K.G. (son and heir of Edmund de Stafford, a lord of parliament), summoned to parliament 14 Jan. 10 Edward III., 1337, to 25 Nov. 24 Edward III., 1350, created Earl of the County of Stafford, 5 March, 1351, to hold to him and his heirs; served in the wars in Scotland and in Britany, taken prisoner at the siege of Nantes, seneschal of Aquitaine, 20 Edward III., had a principal command at the battle of Cressy, one of the founders of the Order of the Garter, lieutenant and captain-general of the duchy of Aquitaine; he died 31 Aug., 1372, having had, with other issue (see also BOSANQUET, page 23), a son,

HUGH, 2nd Earl of Stafford, K.G., also served in the wars; died on his return from a pilgrimage to the holy sepulchre at Rhodes, October, 1386; he married Philippa, daughter of Thomas Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, and had, with other issue, a daughter,

KATHERINE DE STAFFORD, married to Sir Michael de la Pole (son of the attainted Earl of Suffolk), restored to his father's dignities 1397, but the proceedings of the parliament 11 Richard II., 1388, having been by the parliament of 1 Henry IV., 1399, affirmed, and the proceedings of 21 Richard II., 1397 (which restored him), annulled, he again fell under his father's attainder; the king therefore restored to him a portion of his father's lands, and gave to him, and the issue male of his body, the title of Earl of Suffolk, by patent, 15 Nov., 1399; he died in camp before Harfleur, 18 Sept., 1415, and had, with other issue, a son,

SIR THOMAS DE LA POLE, who married Ann, daughter of Nicholas Cheney, and had an only daughter and heir,

KATHERINE DE LA POLE, married 1st to Sir Miles Stapilton, of Bedale, co. THE DESCENT OF
LIEUT.-COL. McLAUGHLIN, R.A.,
THE BLOOD ROYAL OF ENGLAND.

EDWARD I., so named after Edward the Confessor; born at Westminster 17 June, 1239, knighted at Burgos 1254, created earl of Chester; crowned at Westminster, 19 Aug., 1274, king of England, lord of Ireland, duke of Aquitaine; he subdued the principality of Wales 1283, claimed and exercised feudal superiority over Scotland; died at Burgh-on-the-Sands, Cumberland, 7 July, 1307, buried in Westminster Abbey; by his 1st wife, Eleanor, daughter of Ferdinand III., king of Castile, who died 27 Nov., 1290, he had, with other issue, a son,

EDWARD II., born in Carnarvon Castle 25 April, 1284; styled prince of Wales and earl of Chester 1301; created duke of Aquitaine 4 Nov., 1306; crowned at Westminster by Henry, bishop of Winchester, 23 Feb., 1307; suffered forfeiture of his French territory in 1324, by reason of his omission to do homage in that year to Charles le Bel. Edward was imprisoned in Kenilworth Castle, formally deposed 25 Jan., 1327, and murdered in Berkeley Castle 21 Sept. same year. The king married 28 Jan., 1308, Isabel, daughter of Philip IV. of France; she died at Hertford 22 Aug., 1358, having had, with other issue, a son,

EDWARD III., king of England, earl of Chester 1320, duke of Aquitaine, count of Ponthieu and Montreuil 1325; crowned at Westminster in his father's lifetime, 1 Feb., 1327; defeated the Scots at Halidon Hill 1333; in 1339 he assumed the style of "king of France and England, and lord of Ireland," and quartered the arms of France in the first quarter; gained a great naval victory over the French off Sluys 1340, and won the celebrated battle of Cressy 26 Aug., 1346; 17 Oct. following the Scots were defeated at Neville Cross, and King David II. taken prisoner to London, where he remained nearly 11 years. Instituted the order of the Garter 1349. His son, the BLACK PRINCE, defeated the French at the battle of Poictiers, 19 Sept., 1356, and brought King John prisoner to London, where he remained nearly 5 years (for further particulars see Royal Lineage, Foster's Peerage). The king died at Sheen, Surrey, 21 June, 1377, having had, with other issue, a son,

LIONEL OF ANTWERP, born there 29 Nov., 1338; duke of Clarence, so created 1362; created earl of Ulster and lord of Connaught and Trim in Ireland, in right of his 1st wife; died at Longueville, in Piedmont, 17 Oct., 1368; married 1st, 1352, Elizabeth, daughter and heir of William de Burgh, earl of Ulster (whose mother Elizabeth was youngest sister and co-heir of Gilbert de Clare, earl of Hertford and Gloucester, who fell at Bannockburn 1313, son of Joan of Acre, daughter of Edward I.); she died in Dublin 1363. He married 2ndly, 1368, Violanta, daughter of Galeazzo, duke of Milan; she re-married to Otho Paleologus, marquis of Montferrat. By his first marriage he had an only daughter,

PHILIPPA OF CLARENCE, born 16 Aug., 1355; married, 1368, to Edmund Mortimer, 3rd earl of March, lord of Wigmore, lieut. of Ireland 3 Richard II.; died at Cork 27 Dec., 1381, having had, with other issue (see Wolseley and Haig pedigrees), a son,

ROGER MORTIMER, earl of March and Ulster, lord of Wigmore, Clare, and Connaught, lieut. of Ireland 24 Jan., 1381, nominated by Richard II. his successor in the kingdom of England; was slain by O'Brien and the Irish of Leinster at Kenlis 20 July, 1398, aged 24; married Eleanor, eldest daughter of Thomas Holland, earl of Kent; she was re-married to Sir Edward Charlton, Lord Powis, and died 23 Oct., 1405, having had issue by both husbands,—by her 1st husband she had, with other issue, a daughter,

ANNE MORTIMER, married, as 1st wife, to Richard of Conisburgh (son of Edmund, duke of York); created earl of Cambridge 2 Hen. IV., 1414; beheaded for high treason 6 Aug., 1415, leaving, with an only daughter, an only son,

RICHARD, 3rd duke of York, restored to his uncle's titles as duke of York, earl of Cambridge and Rutland, and lord of Tindale, 4 Hen. VI., 1425, became earl of Ulster and March, lord of Wigmore, Clare, Trim, and Connaught, on the death of his uncle, Edmund Mortimer, earl of March, 1424, constable of England, regent of France with Edmund Beaumont, duke of Somerset, 1435, lieut. and capt.-gen. of all France 18 Hen. VI., lieut. of Ireland 26-36 Hen. VI.; constituted protector of the realm in parliament 3 April, 1454, and again 19 Nov., 1455; in Oct., 1459, the Duke went to Ireland, and he with his son, the earl of March, were declared traitors in parliament 20 Nov. same year; at the battle of Northampton, 9 July, 1460, the earl of March took King Henry prisoner; the duke returned to England and claimed the crown, but agreed that Henry should continue to reign for life, and be succeeded by the then duke of York, who was declared rightful heir to the crown; at the battle of Wakefield, 31 Dec., 1460, the duke's forces were defeated by those under Henry's queen (Margaret), and he lost his life; married Cicely, youngest daughter of Ralph Nevill, earl of Westmorland (by Joane Beaufort, his 2nd wife, daughter of John of Gaunt, duke of Lancaster, see vol. i., page 5); she died at Berkhamstead castle 31 May, 1495; buried with the duke, at Fotheringhay, having had, with other issue, a son, EDWARD IV., born at Rouen 29 April, 1441, styled earl of March during his father's lifetime; won the battle at Mortimer's Cross, Herefordshire; proclaimed king 4 March, 1461, and the next day sat upon the king's seat in Westminster Hall; marched on the 13th of same month to the north to give battle to King Henry's army, which he defeated at Towton Field; he was crowned in Westminster Abbey 29 June, 1461. In 1463 Queen Margaret renewed the contest, but she was defeated at Hexham 15 May, 1464; Henry VI. was imprisoned in the Tower in 1465. In 1470 the earl of Warwick and the duke of Clarence landed at Dartmouth, whereupon King Edward retired to Flanders 3 Oct., and was declared a usurper by parliament, and King Henry restored to the throne. On 25 March, 1471, Edward landed in Yorkshire, was welcomed by the citizens of London, who gave up Henry, and, at the battle of Barnet, on 14 April, defeated the earl of Warwick, who was there slain, and on 4 May following defeated Queen Margaret's forces at the battle of Tewkesbury, when she was taken prisoner.
